

The WPI Department of Mathematical Sciences and the WPI Student Chapter of the Association for Women in Mathematics (AWM) are excited to announce

Sonia Kovalevsky Day 2020

An Empowering Day for Middle School Girls Who Love Math

When: Saturday, April 4, 9:00 AM – 3:00 PM

Where: Salisbury Labs on WPI's campus

Who: 6th, 7th, and 8th grade girls with interest in math

In honor of the first female to obtain a Ph.D. in mathematics, the aim of Sonia Kovalevsky Day (SK Day) is to encourage and bolster the students' passion and enthusiasm for mathematics in a supportive environment, while meeting other girls who share similar interests and, of course, having fun!

The day's events will include fun and engaging math activities run by current WPI students, lunch, and a keynote talk by a female mathematician.

For more information and to register to attend, please visit:

<https://www.wpi.edu/news/calendar/events/sonia-kovalevsky-day>

Space is limited, so please register early (no later than March 27, 2020)!

We hope to see you there!

Please contact Prof. Andrea Arnold (anarnold@wpi.edu) with any questions.

SK Day 2020 is supported by a grant from the Women's Impact Network.
